

Happy snow day Dr. Rozbruch,

I am writing, because I had to tell you the latest progress in my recovery.

Well, I am walking almost always with the walker now.

I have physical therapy only 3 times a week now.

In physical therapy I have started walking independently now without even the walker.

For safety, I am only walking inside the parallel bars now.

My legs are growing increasingly strong now. My balance has improved considerably also.

For the first time I can imagine myself walking around again like normal, without any assistance devices.

I wanted to say thank you again.

By the way, I will be leaving the rehabilitation center very soon, since my progress has been so significant.

Thank you,

Peter
